Principal's Welcome

Change is a constant in all our lives. Our college has changed considerably in recent years in order to meet the challenges that present themselves due to the introduction of new technology in the workplace and changed economic conditions. New programmes have been introduced, and our facilities have been upgraded to the highest standards to meet these new demands. We have excellent computer facilities, student support services and extra-curricular programmes. The college is very proud of achieving the status of a Green-Campus in 2013, becoming one of the first further and higher education institutes in Ireland to have done so.

I am delighted to introduce the City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge prospectus for 2026/2027. It will, I hope, give a comprehensive description of all the activities of the college and will help you make an informed decision about your future.

We have always been recognised for our links with employers. We are continuing this association by ensuring that our students have the skills that are required in the business environment today. The college has developed a very successful Erasmus+ programme which provides students with the opportunity to gain work experience in the Netherlands and Germany. Students also have the opportunity to apply for an exciting entrepreneurship internship programme in Barcelona, Spain.

City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge is open and welcoming and each year we have an energetic and enthusiastic group of learners. If you are a school leaver, an adult returning to education or an international student in Ireland, there is a course in the college to suit you. There are opportunities here for everyone and I invite you to look at our courses and choose the one that suits your needs.

All our courses are certified by Quality and Qualifications Ireland (QQI) and all successful students will achieve full national certification. Join the many students who have attended the college in the past and who have used the qualifications obtained in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge to begin a new phase in their chosen career path.

The college is a small friendly place in a central location. We are well served by bus, DART, and LUAS connections. I am delighted to welcome you to any of our courses that begin in September 2026.

Ruth O' Doherty

Enrolment Process, College Services and Key Dates

What does QQI mean?

All courses offered in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge are certified by Quality Qualifications Ireland (QQI).

What do I need to apply?

In general, you need to have a minimum of 5 passes at ordinary level in the Leaving Certificate or its equivalent. Applications are welcome from students with Leaving Certificate Vocational, Leaving Certificate Applied or QQI Level 4 qualifications. Exceptions can be made where special circumstances apply. The Leaving Certificate is not a requirement for mature students and appropriate experience can be considered as being equivalent to the Leaving Certificate. Entry requirements for the Level 6 courses and the Level 8 tertiary programme can be found on the relevant course page.

How do I apply?

Apply online at https://www.ballsbridgecollege.com/apply from December. Online applications for the Auctioneering & Property Services Apprenticeship open in mid-January.

Where can I get more information?

On the college website at www.ballsbridgecollege.com or from your Career Guidance Counsellor in school or by contacting the college directly at 01 668 4806 or info@ballsbridge.cdetb.ie

What does it cost?

Costs are kept to a minimum. For 2026/2027 the course registration fee is €100. Please note that some courses may require additional payments.

Can I get a grant?

Yes. Grants are available to eligible students. Eligibility depends on individual financial circumstances, and a grant must be applied for, through Student Universal Service Ireland (SUSI), see www.susi.ie

Can I attend and continue to receive Social Welfare?

A special programme exist that may allow applicants who are receiving benefit to attend a course and continue to receive payments. It is called the BTEA (Back to Education Allowance). Applicants must fulfil certain criteria to be eligible.

How is my course certified?

QQI courses are placed within the new National Framework of Qualifications (see www.nfq.ie).

Can I use my QQI Award to continue to Higher Education courses?

Yes, there are approximately forty Higher Education Institutions including Universities, Institutes of Technology and private colleges offering places on a variety of courses to QQI certificate holders. Further information is available at http://www.qqi.ie/Articles/ Pages/Higher-Education-Links-Scheme-(HELS).aspx

Intending applicants are advised, at all times, to confirm linked awards, any additional module requirements, applications processes and scoring systems with the Admission Offices of the participating Higher Education Institutions or visit www.cao.ie

What our graduates say:

"I would consider my time studying on the Applied Psychology course invaluable. I received continuous immeasurable support from all of the staff. One of the major advantages of the college is the intimate aspect of learning - you receive detailed personal feedback from assignments and avail of additional support if needed all the while forming a lovely personal bond with the teachers. I feel as though I truly flourished in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge and the additional year has allowed me to mature, solidify my choice in subject and grow in confidence. I would recommend everyone to do a PLC, regardless of an offer for your desired third level course and particularly to do it at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge."

Applied Psychology with Psychotherapy

Psychology is the scientific investigation of behaviour and mental processes. It aims to study how a person thinks, feels and acts in any social situation. The main emphasis is on the individual and how they can affect and be affected by social contact with other parties. Applied Psychology avails of general psychological principles and theories and uses them to investigate problems in the area of business management, product design, ergonomics, law, health and mental health.

To do this, Applied Psychologists use a range of measurement techniques. These include observation, case studies, psychometric tests, surveys and experiments. This foundation course aims to give participants an introduction to the core theories and methodologies of psychology and prepare them for further study at third level.

In addition, the course also lays the foundation for a wide variety of 'people–focused' careers in social research, environmental psychology and human resource management.

Applied Psychology and Social Science

Society and its many processes can be studied as a whole or in focus. Social studies adopts the wide, macro investigation while applied psychology concentrates on the in-depth, micro relationship between society and the individual.

This QQI level 5 course introduces the student to both investigative perspectives.

Learners will be provided with the theoretical tools to study society and its range of effects. They will develop the competencies and skills to recognise the many processes at work in general and in relation to their own social experience. The range of modules will cover the variety of social variables that dynamically exist and function to provide the framework of modern society.

Society's many benefits and pressures will be analysed with particular emphasis on the developmental stage of youth. The learner, in this research stage, will explore the areas of mental health and substance use with a view to identifying the social contexts which contribute to these issues and the range of therapeutic interventions and treatments available.

This course is designed to enable learners to consider work in a variety of community/ social settings and is also aimed at learners who wish to progress to higher studies in psychology or social science.

Criminology, Law & Social Studies

Students on this course will study the causes and different types of crime, the criminal justice system in Ireland and the operation of the penal system. Criminal motivation and the underlying societal causes of crime are also examined.

What our graduates say:

"The College has a friendly welcoming atmosphere with a diverse range of students. The teachers, Student Support Services and Guidance Counsellor, provided really useful advice in terms of supports available to students and routes to achieving access to the career path I hoped to take. The course was interesting and the subjects I studied were important to gaining access to the degree course I wanted to progress onto. I learned so much from studying each of the modules. I cannot emphasis how important it was in helping me achieving my goal, I'm so grateful. I would recommend the Criminology & Social Studies course because it provides so many opportunities for people entering employment or progressing to continuing education. I have gained valuable lessons that I will take with me throughout life."

What our graduates say:

"As part of this course I studied really interesting modules. During my time in Ballsbridge College, I have met a lot of students from different backgrounds- both local and international students. The teachers in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge are very passionate and helpful. They take good care of their students and new students will find it easy to settle into the course. The college has a very welcoming atmosphere and an extensive supporting network when it comes to student's wellbeing. They also provided me with a lot of advice during my higher education application process. My family and I will never forget the joy, when on completion of the Community Development course, I was accepted by TU Dublin, Blanchardstown. I would highly recommend City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge for someone who is interested in returning to study, like me."

Community Development - Level 6

Community Development organisations in Ireland aim to achieve social change, equality and social justice. Community development workers have been presented with a number of opportunities and challenges over recent years by the rapidly changing social context of Ireland including work with new communities, migrant workers and refugees, combating racism and challenging the persistence of other social and economic inequalities.

Community development seeks to empower communities. It works across a range of services- information and advice, counselling, advocacy and support and it targets an equally diverse range of people and areas of interest. This course will equip learners with the skills and knowledge to implement and deliver programmes that adhere to the key community development principles of participation, empowerment and collective decision making in a structured and co-ordinated way.

Students will apply this knowledge and skill-base through participation in a work- based training programme over two full days per week.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

Leah O' Donoghue: Criminology, Law & Social Studies 2025
Current Position: undergraduate, Criminology & Sociology, Maynooth University

Hi, my name is Leah O'Donoghue, I studied Criminology, Law and Social Studies at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge from 2024 to 2025 and currently I am studying in Maynooth doing Law with Criminology and Sociology.

Doing my PLC in Ballsbridge was a lovely experience with helpful and lovely staff, and it gave me a head start when I began college. Without doing this PLC I know adjusting to college life would have been a lot harder. This course covered everything I needed to get to get to the place I am now.

During my time in Ballsbridge, I was given an opportunity to do work experience in Barcelona, and this experience helped me gain more confidence in myself and my work along with a range of new connections. I would recommend Ballsbridge to anyone who is thinking of joining.

Molly Ryan & Hannah Zaidan: Applied Psychology graduates 2023
Current Position: undergraduate, Psychology, UCD, undergraduate, Psychology, UCC

Hi, We are Molly Ryan and Hannah Zaidan, and we were Applied Psychology students. Our course had a comprehensive curriculum. Not only did we have classes specific to psychology but also classes that taught us how to design CVs, stay organised and learn the tools that Microsoft word offered to assist our academic work.

City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge stands out for its exceptional staff. All the staff are dedicated educators who are deeply committed to the growth and success of all their students. Our Class Tutor's guidance and humour was invaluable in helping us navigate the complexities of psychology. We felt welcomed in every class and believe that Ballsbridge has such a supportive and inclusive learning environment.

The collaborative spirit at Ballsbridge truly sets it apart. There are different fundraisers and activities you can take part in throughout the year where you can meet students in different courses, which is really fun. Ballsbridge also offer gym access, which is brilliant. Hannah took part in the two- week Erasmus to Utrecht in February and it was a brilliant experience that she would have missed out on having not attended the College. During our time there we formed lifelong friendships with our classmates which made our academic journey very enjoyable.

City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge equips its students with the skills and knowledge needed to excel in the field of psychology, but also the real world. Molly and I are grateful for our time there and are confident that future students will find it to be an equally rewarding educational institution. We are now studying Psychology in UCD and in UCC.

In conclusion, we wholeheartedly recommend to any prospective students considering a path in applied psychology or any other field to apply for a course in the College. It is a place where academic excellence, inclusivity, and personal growth intersect.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

Olena Kosovska: Applied Social Psychology Level 6 graduate 2025
Current Position: In full time employment

I really enjoyed studying at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge.

The college offers a very individual approach to each student. If you have any questions or difficulties during your studies, there is a dedicated support specialist who helps clarify things and even gives advice on how to write assignments more effectively.

The teachers know their students personally and are always happy to answer any questions. I especially want to mention the Mental Health Awareness teacher, whose approach is inspiring and helps to understand the topic on a deeper level.

Everyone is very approachable, and you can easily reach out with your ideas or concerns.

Thanks to this course, I have improved my English language skills, learned to see the Irish social support system more comprehensively, and gained valuable practical experience

There were also many practical sessions, where we could apply the knowledge gained from theory to real-life situations.

Overall, studying at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge was not only educational but also a truly enriching and empowering experience.

Georgia-May Staunton: Criminology, Law & Social Studies graduate 2025
Current Position: undergraduate, Politics, International Relations & Social Justice, UCD

Graduating from City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge has genuinely been one of my favourite chapters in my life so far. The year was full of moments and memories I will cherish forever. One of the most unforgettable parts being the Erasmus I had the opportunity to go on. I travelled to Utrecht with people I barely knew and came home with lifelong friends. The experience pushed me to step out of my comfort zone and gave me life skills I didn't know I was missing. My course offered the perfect balance of challenge and enjoyment. When looking back I can see just how much I have grown academically, personally and professionally.

Being awarded student of the year was such an incredible honour. It reflected not just the hard work I put in, but also the support, trust and encouragement I received daily from the staff throughout my time studying Criminology, Law and Social Studies. Each teacher genuinely cares and motivates you to do your best, not for anyone else, but for yourself.

I graduated with 12 distinctions and since then have continued my educational journey in UCD studying Politics, International Relations and Social Justice. It's a course that I hadn't even thought of pursuing before attending City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge, but now feel confident that it's my next chapter in life. I could not recommend the course and the college enough!

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

Adam Blighe: International Relations & Development graduate 2023
Current Position: undergraduate, International Relations, DCU

My name is Adam Blighe, and I was a student on the International Relations and Development (IRD) course from 2022-2023. I chose this course as it was the only one with the type of subjects and topics that I really wanted to learn about - Global Development Issues, Intercultural Studies and Political Studies. The additional modules of Applied Economics, Business Administration, Communications, Word Processing, and Work Experience were also interesting and the way that the lecturers delivered the information was effective. I learned a lot of new ideas and was able to have many interesting conversations about various topics both related and non-related to the curriculum with tutors and other students alike! Overall, I found the course to be well delivered and informative and it's inspired me to learn more in the future so this year I started in DCU, studying International Relations.

Molly Kehoe & Sophie Burnett Keoghan: Criminology, Law and Social Studies graduate 2023
Current Position: undergraduate, Arts (Criminology), Maynooth University

Hi everyone, we are Molly and Sophie, and we studied on the Criminology, Law and Social Studies course.

During our time in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge, there was an abundance of chances to meet new people and make great memories. Both Molly and I participated in the fun events run by students from other courses such as bingo, group quizzes and culture days and I was on in the college football team.

Although they were all great fun, the highlight of my time was the opportunity to participate in the College's Erasmus programme. I spent two weeks in Utrecht, a student town not far from Amsterdam in the Netherlands, where I completed a two-week work placement. I now have some of the best memories so far in my life and the friendships I made through that experience.

After completing the course, we felt confident in what we wanted to study and feel the course has given us a massive advantage in attending university, with the extremely useful skills and the knowledge we have developed. We feel less anxious about assignments and more confident in beginning my college experience.

We have used the course to progress onto an Arts degree in Maynooth University. We would recommend the course to anyone who is unsure of what career they want to pursue and anyone who is considering studying Law and Criminology at third level.

Finally, just to say, although our year was busy with lots of assignments and classes, the College also held different fun activities throughout the year. We also visited the Criminal Courts, and it gave a unique insight into how the justice system works, which ensured that the year was not just full of books and that we never had a boring day at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge. We really enjoyed the course and made some amazing friends.

English (EFL) & Business Communications

City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge has been providing a course in English as a Foreign Language for over twenty years. During this time the course has expanded to facilitate students with differing levels of English and has become an integral part of the college.

It attracts students from all over the world and from many different cultures and backgrounds. All the students have the desire to learn English in a dynamic environment, on a course that combines English language with the study of business and computers. Many students have used these qualifications to help them secure employment here in Ireland.

Entry Requirements:

- Applicants must have at least a lower intermediate standard of English to facilitate learning through the medium of English.
- All applicants must have fully complied with any necessary residence requirements pertaining at the time of application.
- Applicants will be required to take an assessment to determine their level of competence in English so that they can be placed in a class most appropriate for them.

Higher Education Links:

A significant number of students use this course as a foundation English Language course before continuing to further courses at degree and post-degree level.

University of Cambridge Awards:*

- First Certificate in English
- Certificate in Advanced English

What our graduates say:

"Arriving in Dublin, I had a basic knowledge of English, and it wasn't enough for me. It was hard for me to understand local people. Learning the language is really mandatory. I decided to enroll at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge to study English as a Foreign Language (EFL) & Business Communications and I'm glad I did! I learned a lot, thanks to the good teachers I had - patient, tolerant, and always ready to help. I would like to sincerely thank them again for putting up with me as I practiced speaking English and for teaching me. Besides English, I also studied other useful subjects such as Business Administration, Communications, Marketing, Spreadsheets, Word Processing, Internet and the very interesting Intercultural Studies. For now, I continue to practice learning this language through work and being part of society and I hope one day to speak it perfectly!"

What our graduates say:

"One of the most valuable aspects of completing the Level 5 course was the way it set me up for my apprenticeship in Auctioneering & Property Services. The fact I had a recognised qualification helped me secure an employer for my apprenticeship, as it showed employers that I was committed to a career in this industry and had time invested in this already as I had completed the level 5 course.

Entering my apprenticeship with all the knowledge I gained from the previous year proved very beneficial. Overall, the level 5 course was a crucial stepping stone that not only opened doors to my apprenticeship but also gave me the knowledge and skills to succeed in it."

What our graduates say:

"My decision to enrol in the Business Studies course was beneficial to me in so many ways. I previously did not have a lot of knowledge regarding Business Studies in general, or in particular subjects such as accounting or economics. I can now say I am confident with each of these as well as many other subjects. My teachers were extremely helpful throughout the year, and I found each class enjoyable, while greatly broadening my knowledge and skills at the same time. I have now progressed into Third Level studying Commerce, in UCD and believe that my time in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge will help me hugely in the long run. If you are looking to progress or would even simply like to study business in general, I could not recommend this course enough!"

Entrepreneurship can be described as an approach to life as well as a set of business skills. It requires a person to think creatively, ask difficult questions and challenge established ways of working. In addition, it is recognised that employers today wish to employ those with entrepreneurial skills as they are seen as an asset to an organisation. Thus, entrepreneurial skills enhance a student's prospects of employment.

This course will equip participants with a range of skills and the practical knowledge required to evaluate business opportunities, create business plans, undertake market analysis, secure start- up or expansion finance and successfully manage an enterprise. In addition, whilst undertaking this course, participants are offered the opportunity to set up and operate a business producing a product or providing a service.

On completion of the course students will have greatly enhanced their potential to start their own business, work with other employers or progress to degree courses in a range of Irish Higher Education Institutes

Digital Marketing

Digital Marketing is a niche area where the demand for skilled professionals consistently exceeds supply. Marketing professionals are increasingly recognising the importance of online strategies in distributing products and services, reaching targeted consumers, building interactive relationship with customers and having the ability to produce measurable results.

This course equips students with the tools, skills and knowledge they need to develop an integrated marketing approach, using both traditional and online techniques.

What our graduates say:

"Deciding to do the Digital Marketing course benefitted me in so many ways. I worked hard and got good results, and I am now completing a Level 8 Degree in International Business in TU Dublin. The skills that the Digital Marketing course my taught me have really helped! I feel like I have a head start in some of my modules, especially Marketing and Accounting and thanks to my time in Ballsbridge Campus my computer skills have greatly improved. I also learnt skills that will help in me in College, such as how to reference properly, how to use Excel and PowerPoint and how to interpret feedback on assessments. I firmly believe that I am finding my first year in college a lot easier thanks to my time in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge."

Human Resource Management

This course is aimed at students who wish to develop their knowledge of Human Resource Management, both in theory and in practice. It leads to opportunities in HR departments across a wide range of public and private sector organisations. Successful graduates of this course can use their QQI certificate to progress to higher level studies in the Higher Education Institutes.

What our graduates say:

"I attended City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge as a mature student. I was a bar man in Australia but lost my job, so I decided to come home and upskill. After careful thought and on the recommendation of my cousin, I picked the Human Resource Management course in the College. From the start I felt very welcomed and the introduction and transition into the course was seamless and all the teachers did a great job to make everyone feel included. I would like to take the opportunity to thank my teachers in the College who went out of their way to make the class fun but also professional and never hesitated to answer any questions asked. Although it was a quick year, I made good friends and completed the course with flying colours and could not have done this without all the work the staff of Ballsbridge did behind the scenes."

What our graduates say:

"I found my course in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge to be a very interesting and innovative course. It gave me confidence going into college as I have a good base of knowledge for some of the modules I'm studying at the moment in the Marketing degree programme in TU Dublin. I became confident in completing assignments and learnt important research techniques such as referencing and producing a bibliography. Compared to other students in my year, I really think doing this course has given me an advantage as I feel I have had a head start and feel much more comfortable in the transition to college. The course has relevant subjects such as Marketing and Consumer Psychology, and these have given me a great insight into the world of marketing and what to expect. I felt very encouraged to be creative and come up with my own ideas which created a very enthusiastic and fun environment for me to learn all about the marketing world and this is why I enjoyed my time at Ballsbridge."

What our graduates say:

"The course gripped me from the very beginning right to the end of my college year. It was thoroughly enjoyable, captivating, but challenging at times also. My experience at Ballsbridge College has been nothing but enjoyable and extremely beneficial. The college has had a very positive impact on my life. I am so grateful to the lecturers at the college for their guidance and tuition during my time at the college. The lectures not only helped me to achieve my dream course by pushing me to achieve the best grades, but they also taught me skills which I will use throughout my future studies and career. They made me feel I had the potential to progress and achieve what I wanted. It is because of the lecturers at Ballsbridge College that I have got to where I am today, and I am so grateful."

Advanced Certificate in Event Management - Level 6

Event Management is one of the fastest developing industries in the world, growing enormously in the last two decades. Event Management focuses on the management and production of corporate, leisure, cultural and religious events. This course provides students with the theoretical knowledge and practical skills to take a concept and see it materialise into an event.

What our graduates say:

"City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge is the perfect college to start in. I was definitely not the most academic student in school, so I was unsure as to how I would get on in college. The lecturers are extremely supportive and very helpful when you are struggling with any assignments or modules. There is a constant support group either from the students in your class or from the teachers and porters in the college. I progressed to the Event Management programme in TU Dublin. I went directly into year 2 from City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge through the advanced entry route for PLC students coming from Level 6 courses. I would definitely recommend everyone to apply to City of Dublin FET College for their first step in third level education. The mixture of continuous assessment and exams has me more than prepared to continue my studies in TU Dublin."

Project Management - Level 6

Project management has emerged as a standalone profession. The Project Management Institute predict that demand for Project Managers will outstrip supply over the next 10 years. By 2027, globally, employers will need 87.7 million individuals working in project management-oriented roles.

Project Management is a function used in many business sectors either for a one-off project or as an ongoing activity. Project Managers plan and organise an organisation's staff, financial and technological resources to progress a specific project or event to completion.

This course will provide learners with an introduction to the key project management skills, tools and techniques that are utilised to successfully initiate, run, and close projects of all types.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

Georgia Doyle: Advanced Business Level 6 graduate
Current Position: in full-time employment

Hi, my name is Georgia, I studied Advanced Business in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge between 24/25. I chose this course as it covered a wide range of business-related subjects. It gave me valuable knowledge across different areas and helped me discover which aspects of business I wanted to specialize in.

After completing the course, I was accepted into Level 8 Marketing programme at NCI, as Marketing was my favourite subject.

However, I decided to enter the workforce instead.

The combination of real-life experience and the knowledge gave me the foundation and confidence to enter the workforce. I would highly recommend this course to anyone interested in business, as you gain great knowledge, practical skills and a better understanding of what area you might to pursue in the future or if you would like to enter the workforce.

Sonia Otuonye: Interior Design graduate
Current Position: undergraduate, Interior Design, Limerick School of Art & Design

I completed the Level 5 Interior Design course at Dublin FET College Ballsbridge in 2025, and I can honestly say it was one of the best decisions I've ever made.

The modules, including Computer Aided Draughting, Design Skills, and Personal and Professional Development, gave me a solid foundation and the confidence to continue my studies at Level 8 in Limerick School of Art and Design.

This course is an amazing choice for anyone thinking about pursuing interior design as a career. It really prepared me for the next step in my education, both creatively and professionally.

The teachers were incredibly supportive and always went above and beyond to help me reach my goals.

Mark Hilsabeck: Auctioneering, Estate Agency & Valuations graduate 2025
Current Position: apprentice, Auctioneering & Property Services Apprenticeship, City of Dublin FET College, Ballsbridge

The QQI Level 5 Property Service programme in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge is a viable path to getting into the property business. It gives you a solid foundation to speak knowledgeably about the current state of the property sector in Ireland and what to expect if you want to work in the industry.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

Olwyn Berry: Business Studies with Entrepreneurial Skills graduate 2025
Current Position: undergraduate, Business, Economics & Social Studies, Trinity College Dublin

My name is Olwyn Berry. I was a student on the Business with Entrepreneurial Skills course at Ballsbridge in 2024-2025. After the Leaving Cert, I had accepted my CAO offer, but I quickly realised the place I was offered wouldn't suit me. I felt unsure about my next step. Should I step out and work for a year or try to apply again elsewhere? I wasn't sure what to do. A friend suggested doing a PLC. I researched the range of courses available and decided that the Business with Entrepreneurial Skills course at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge, was right for me. The course takes a very practical approach to entrepreneurship, and with suitable grades, there was the possibility of progressing into business programmes in Dublin universities, including Trinity and UCD.

From my first day in Ballsbridge, I felt right at home. All the teachers were very insightful and approachable, creating an engaging atmosphere that truly enhanced our learning. The coursework was so interesting and practice based. From designing advertising campaigns to managing accounts, this course provided us with the knowledge needed to start our own business! The class groups were small, which really helped with class cohesion.

During the year, I also had the privilege of participating in an Erasmus Entrepreneurial Work Experience Programme in Barcelona. This two-week programme, in conjunction with two other colleges, was an eye-opening experience. We had real hands-on experience working with local start-ups in Barcelona. The two weeks I spent in Barcelona were among the best of my life—meeting people from other courses and colleges while immersing myself in Spanish culture. It truly let me feel a sense of independence I had never felt before. It was also an eye-opening experience that challenged me in new ways and left me feeling inspired about the opportunities to come.

Now that I have completed my year in Ballsbridge, I can say with certainty that it helped not just my learning but also my growth as an individual. Getting the chance to meet new people, many of whom I am still close with, is really a testament to the college's culture. I would recommend Ballsbridge College to absolutely everyone. A piece of advice to anyone considering studying at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge: do it. My time in Ballsbridge changed my life and gave me the chance I needed to get into my dream course at Trinity.

Diego Alejandro Avila Alvarez: Human Resource Management graduate, 2023
Current Position: undergraduate, Human Resource Management, NCI

I believe that a simple recommendation would not do justice to the great opportunity that Ballsbridge has given my life. I'm Spanish. My family and I decided to emigrate to Ireland after the pandemic. Ballsbridge opened the doors for me to be able to level my studies with the demands of Ireland. The teachers, for whom I have a very special affection, are there for the students, their main focus will always be wanting you to succeed. Studying at Ballsbridge has been, to date, the best decision I have made in my life.

Antons Ozolins: Marketing, Advertising & Business Management Graduate 2024
Current Position: undergraduate, BSc (Hons) Marketing, Innovation & Technology, DCU

I found my time at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge to be both inspiring and transformative. The course provided a solid foundation in key areas, which really boosted my confidence as I transitioned to my current degree program MINT at DCU. The hands-on approach helped me develop essential skills like researching, referencing, and crafting detailed reports, which made me feel well-prepared compared to my peers.

This course covered a range of relevant topics, from Marketing to Behavioural Studies, offering valuable insights into the dynamic field of marketing. I appreciated the encouragement to think creatively and develop original concepts, which made every project both challenging and enjoyable. The supportive, engaging atmosphere at Ballsbridge allowed me to explore my interests deeply, and I'm grateful for the advantage this experience has given me. It's a course I'd wholeheartedly recommend to anyone aiming to thrive in the marketing industry.

Jessica O' Meara: Event Management graduate 2024
Current Position: undergraduate B.Sc. (Hons) Event Management, TU Dublin

Hi, my name is Jessica, I studied Event Management at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge in 2023-2024. I really enjoyed this course because it gave me the skills and confidence to enter TU Dublin. The teachers were so supportive and encouraged me to reach my full potential and helped me achieve the results I needed to enter TU Dublin.

I didn't know much about the events industry going into this course, nor did I know if it was the career path I wanted to take. By the end of the year, I had gained a full knowledge of the industry and was fully confident that this was the career for me and was eager to continue my studies.

My favourite part of the course was planning our own event. With the help and experience from our teachers, we were able to successfully run a table quiz. The success of this event would not have been achieved if it wasn't for the support of the support of the teachers and students. This gave us our first real life experience of managing an event and everything that goes into it.

I am grateful for to have spent a year in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge working with such kind and helpful teachers and staff. I would not have progressed into TU Dublin without their help.

Jennifer Mooney: Advanced Business graduate, 2023
Current Position: undergraduate, Business & Law, UCD

The Advanced Business programme has undeniably fostered my intellectual and personal growth, which in turn has shaped me into a more mature student. From partaking in this course, I have learned to navigate unchartered waters, including marketing a product or service to possible investors, navigate the functions of Excel, crafting market strategies, studying the legal aspects of the business world and communicating within a team framework. The college consists of a faculty of exceptional teachers, who are driven by the passion to share their knowledge, while creating a welcoming environment. The support and friendly atmosphere available at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge have inevitably opened a pathway for me I didn't know was available, steering me towards studying Business and Law in University college Dublin.

My time in Ballsbridge will forever serve as an important milestone in my academic journey, it has instilled a new mind-set in me and has pointed me in the direction of numerous possible careers which I will be forever thankful for.

Andrea Brannigan: Advanced Business Graduate, 2023
Current Position: undergraduate, Business, DCU

I studied the Advanced Business course in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge from 2022 to 2023. I am now studying Business Studies in DCU, and I don't think I would be able to understand half the topics on my current course if I didn't cover them in Ballsbridge before. One of my favourite things about this college, which I miss, is that every teacher and all the head staff were always so attentive and helpful. I didn't originally plan to study business but out of sheer impulsiveness I chose to switch to the advanced business course, and it was one of the best decisions I've ever took which set me on my journey to now study at DCU. Also, I was one of the lucky few to get to go on an Erasmus trip to Hamburg, Germany. There I made friends who I still keep in touch with. It was an eye-opening experience which allowed me to learn more about the inside workings of businesses abroad. I really do miss my time at this great college. Thank you for having me for what seemed like a short year yet definitely an influential one. I would highly recommend City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge to any person who wants to create exciting memories, learn, and have a smooth transition to college.

Laura Heritage: Interior Design graduate 2024
Current Position: undergraduate, Interior Design, TU Dublin

I successfully completed the QQI Level 5 Interior Design course in 2024 and this allowed me to progress to study Interior Design at degree level in TU Dublin. I believe the modules I studied in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge have given me a great head start, on the level 8-degree course in TU Dublin. I found the Architectural Drawing module really helpful, it has given me an excellent foundation, as I am already very familiar with all the technical terms and drawing types. The individual attention I received in Ballsbridge Campus was really useful in helping me clarify particular technical aspects of the course and I find a lot of what I am currently studying I already did in Ballsbridge campus. The assignments were well timed and spaced out, so I did not feel overwhelmed, as we were given plenty of notice.

Looking back on my time in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge, I found the college a welcoming and friendly place. There was lots of additional help and resources available to me. I found the Career Guidance extremely helpful in advising me on all the different options available for progression into Higher Education.

Alice Margetson: Auctioneering & Property Services Apprenticeship graduate 2024
Current Position: Working in the property services sector

The Apprenticeship in Auctioneering and Property Services at City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge is an excellent programme for those looking to pursue a career in estate agency, auctioneering, or property management.

Having completed the course, I can confidently say it provides a well-rounded combination of academic study and practical experience.

The academic side covers key subjects such as property law, valuations, sales and marketing, among others. These modules are delivered by experienced lecturers with extensive industry expertise. Meanwhile, the practical element offers a comprehensive insight into the daily operations of an estate agency practice, seamlessly bridging the gap between theory and real-life experience.

I would highly recommend this course to anyone seeking to gain both a professional qualification and hands-on industry experience.

Grace Costello: Auctioneering, Estate Agency & Valuation graduate 2024
Current Position: Apprentice on the Auctioneering & Property Services Apprenticeship

I completed the Level 5 Auctioneering, Estate Agency & Valuation course in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge. It was a full-time programme, delivered by experienced lecturers. The course covered a wide range of subjects, including Estate Agency Practice, Valuation, Business Administration, Law, Communications, IT, Applied Economics, and Work Experience. I undertook the course as a foundation to gain knowledge of the property industry in Ireland, with the aim of progressing onto the apprenticeship the following year.

After completing my work experience, I was fortunate to be offered an apprenticeship role at Knight Frank. The work experience provided me with invaluable insight into the day-to-day operations of an estate agency.

I am currently undertaking the level 6 Apprenticeship in Auctioneering and Property Services in the college. The apprenticeship allows me to obtain my PSRA license, which allows me to advance my career in the property sector. The course offers a practical approach, which enables me to directly apply the knowledge and skills I gain in the classroom to my workplace.

I would highly recommend these courses to people looking to pursue a career in the property industry, as they provide both the theoretical knowledge and practical experience needed to succeed in the industry.

Keith McCabe: Auctioneering & Property Services Apprenticeship graduate 2024
Current Position: Working in the property services sector

I have recently completed the two-year Auctioneering and Property Services Apprenticeship (Level 6) course in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge.

Having worked in a different sector for a number of years I decided it was time for a change, and I can honestly say it was the best decision I have ever made.

From day one and the initial emails with the college staff, everybody went out of their way to help. The College is blessed to have the teachers they do, with each and every one willing to go above and beyond to help each student achieve their goal. The programme itself is smartly structured with 9 modules in total in Year One including Valuations, Property Management, Law, ICT and Marketing, to name a few.

Working four days on site and having one full day in the college was an interesting dynamic and one that I feel works incredibly well. Being able to put your newly learned skills into practice immediately was a great help and being able to bring your real-world experiences into college to discuss with the teacher and class was brilliant also.

I would highly recommend anyone interested in property to consider applying for this apprenticeship programme in City of Dublin FET College Ballsbridge. Along with my qualifications I have also made some very good friends and connections in the property industry which I am sure will last throughout my career.

Sustainability and the Built Environment

This one-year QQI level 5 course develops learners understanding of the role sustainability plays in the future of building construction. The course addresses both theory and practice, introducing the learner to the technical aspects of energy systems and other building services. It equips learners with a methodology to consider their impact on the environment and the best fit for different energy technologies within the built environment, whilst considering the economic, social and regulatory environments.

Students gain a familiarity with the environmentally friendly design processes and how to use resources efficiently throughout the lifecycle of a building, from conceptual stage to design and construction to an operational building. In addition, learners will also develop skills in design and architectural drawing.

On successful completion of the course, graduates are able to progress to a range of higher education programmes in the area of engineering, construction management, product design and architectural technology.

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY

Caoimhe O'Brien: Health Sector Studies with Nursing Skills Graduate 2024
Current Position: undergraduate, BSc in Children's and General Nursing, TCD

I was a Health Sector Studies with Nursing Skills student in 2023/2024. My Mam and Auntie studied in the college many years ago and when I mentioned attending a Further Education College, they couldn't recommend it more. I enrolled in the college the week before the course began and it was the best decision I've ever made.

I really enjoyed my time at the college and learned loads of insightful and invaluable knowledge along the way. During my time at the college, I studied many useful and well taught modules including Nursing Theory and Practice, Human Growth and Development, Anatomy and Physiology, Care of the Older Person and Communications, which have all helped me a lot in my everyday life and studies.

Completing this course opened up many opportunities for me. I am currently studying Children's and General Nursing in Trinity College and wouldn't be here had I not done the Health Sector Studies with Nursing Skills course last year. I am halfway through my first block of placement in Tallaght University Hospital and already know I have chosen the right career.

Kyle McCourtney: Health, Nutrition & Fitness Graduate, 2023
Current Position: working and studying part-time

The course is filled with well-structured modules that are both engaging and fascinating. I had the privilege of being taught by exceptional lecturers and tutors who were always ready to assist and were incredibly friendly. My time at Ballsbridge was truly enjoyable, thanks in part to the various societies and activities the college offers, making it easy to make friends and settle in quickly.

The course I completed has greatly contributed to my career progression and has served as a stepping stone for further education at the tertiary level. I wholeheartedly recommend this course to anyone interested in pursuing a career in Nutrition and Community Services. I am immensely grateful for the exceptional learning experiences I had at Ballsbridge. Many thanks for an incredible educational journey!
